Redesigned an enterprise multivariate-testing tool through user research and competitive analysis, turning an ambiguous, hard-to-parse workflow into an intuitive experience for three power-user groups with clearer user flows and a redesigned test lifecycle. Paired Figma with AI-assisted prototyping to speed up design-to-dev handoff, using AI to iterate faster while evaluating where its output missed the user goal and needed correction before shipping.

Code4Community – Design Lead

Jan 2026 – Present

Lead design for a React Native app that connects 600 volunteers with 1,800 older adults across four care programs, directing user research and interaction design with a cross-functional team of designers, product partners, and engineers. Designed program-adaptive check-in forms, a push and text notification system, and a coordinator dashboard, mapping the full user journey and replacing a manual email and Salesforce workflow with real-time visit tracking and issue flagging.

NExT Consulting – UI/UX Design Engineer

Owned an ed-tech microlearning platform end to end, carrying it from student interviews through wireframes, prototypes, and shipped, tested UI. Designed skill-tree learning paths, presentation-mode lessons, and a ground-up admin redesign, translating research findings into a usable, purposeful experience.
